Golf championship swings into action

Entries are now open for the Men's NSW Open Regional Qualifier to be held in Camden on Saturday 20 May.

This year's event will be a 'stroke play' event, incorporated into the Camden Cup, following on from last year's successful NSW Open Regional Qualifier held in Camden.

Mayor of Camden, Councillor Lara Symkowiak, said she is delighted to see the championships return, highlighting the region's golfing facilities.

"Providing great sport and recreation opportunities is a priority for Council and hosting events like the NSW Open Regional Qualifier not only leads to increased visitor spending for our region, it also enables us to showcase Camden's unique and beautiful attractions."

"Council would like to thank Camden Golf Club and Golf NSW for staging the NSW Open Regional Qualifier event in our thriving area, and all the players who will take part," Cr Symkowiak said.

Last year's NSW Open Regional Qualifier marked the first regional golf event to be held in Camden, as part of a three-year partnership between Golf NSW and Camden Council.

This partnership with Golf NSW aims to increase visitation and support economic development, local businesses and boost tourism in the local area.

Interested golfers can register to play in the event by going to the Camden Golf Club website www.camdengolfclub.com.au.
