Calling for new members of Animal Advisory committee

Animal lovers can make a difference to local pets with applications open to join Camden Council's Companion Animals Advisory committee.

The committee meets on a quarterly basis and assists Council with the development of strategic policies, programs, services and plans for companion animals.

"Animals play an important part in supporting the physical and emotional health of our residents," Mayor Lara Symkowiak said.

"This is a great opportunity for residents to get involved and work to improve facilities for companion animals and Council's responsible pet ownership program PAWS Safe," Cr Symkowiak said.

Appointments to the committee will remain current for two years. A passion for companion animals is a must.

Applications to join the Companion Animal Committee are open until Friday 28 July. For more information contact Council's Rangers on 4654 7777.
