Designs now ready for new Spring Farm park

Plans for a new park at Bandara Circuit in Spring Farm are now complete and available for viewing.

Council ran a community consultation program in January this year about the equipment for the site.

“It is important that the park meets the needs of residents and is a welcoming and comfortable environment for everyone to enjoy,” said Mayor Lara Symkowiak.

“All of the information gathered during the consultation has contributed to the design of the play space and additional play and fitness components have been incorporated into the master plan for the site for development in the future,” Cr Symkowiak said.

The park design incorporates the remnant woodland and greenspace and includes an adventure playground for older children and a separate play area for younger children. It includes a sensory garden, sculptures and interpretive trail, shade structures and timber seating.

Construction of the $900,000 project is expected to begin early next year and take six months to complete.

Images of the design are available on Council’s website, www.camden.nsw.gov.au.
