CAMDEN LIBRARY SERVICES BOOK CLUB KITS BETTER THAN EVER

The social reading experience provided by Camden Council's Library Services just got even better with the addition of twelve new titles for their Book Club Kits. Through these resources, Council is encouraging book lovers to make it social and hold a Book Club with friends, neighbours, family members, colleagues or school friends.

The kits each contain ten copies of a title along with a set of discussion questions to get the conversation started. The addition of these new titles will increase the resources available and diversify the range of titles available to include more Australian classics, biographies and modern best-sellers.

Taking it a step further - the Library has now included film adaptations to the kits. Book Clubs will be able to discuss how print and film formats explore the characters and themes in different ways.

Mayor of Camden, Councillor Lara Symkowiak said the Book Club Kit program is yet another fantastic example of the quality services provided by Camden Council's Library Services.

"The Book Club Kits are a brilliant idea and provide the tools for our residents to participate in social reading, particularly if they are unable to make the Book Club sessions held at our Libraries." Cr Symkowiak said.

"Now that we have included film adaptations to the kits and increased the titles available, it will take Book Club discussions to a new level and encourage readers to share ideas, explore the titles further and provide a more engaging experience." Cr Symkowiak highlighted.
