Free workshops on for Business Month

Small businesses in the Camden LGA will benefit from a series of seminars, events and networking opportunities as part of Camden Business Month.

Mayor Peter Sidgreaves said Business Month in September was Council's opportunity to support local businesses and their contributions to the community.

"It is important to recognise the role and support the success of our small business sector which is a major provider of jobs in our area and plays an integral part in our area's growth and economy," Cr Sidgreaves said.

"Business Month is a chance for our small business owners to network and gain new knowledge that will help in their endeavours," he said.

"This will have a flow on effect that benefits the wider community and we hope business owners will take full advantage of the schedule of events on offer."

Other highlights include:

- 4 Futures of Business workshop presented by Colin Potts at Oran Park Smart Work Hub on Tuesday 18 September. Free event.
- Understanding Property workshop by Department of Human Services at Camden Civic Centre on Tuesday 25 September. Free event.
- Maximise your Implementation workshop by Colin Potts at Oran Park Smart Work Hub on Thursday 27 September. Free event.

Camden Council's Business Month is an initiative of the Small Business Friendly Councils program. For more information visit: www.camden.nsw.gov.au.
