Workshops to reduce plastic pollution

Learn how to reduce plastic pollution in the next free workshop at the Macarthur Centre for Sustainable Living this month.

The workshop will focus on how to use boomerang bags and reduce the impact of plastic on the environment.

Mayor Peter Sidgreaves said the workshops provided opportunities for residents to learn important environmental skills for their own backyard.

“These workshops give residents a greater connection to and a sense of responsibility for their natural surroundings,” Cr Sidgreaves said.

“Reducing pollution, especially in the form of plastic bags, is a timely issue and one which we should focus on both as individuals and as a community,” he said.

The free workshop on reducing plastic pollution will be held at Macarthur Centre for Sustainable Living 1pm-3pm, Saturday 27 October.

Anyone interested in booking for the project can call 4647 9838.
